

Paraphrasing World Events

(By H. C.)

A judicial commission to inquire into the riots at Regina has been abandoned. We learned from the newspapers all we need know about it, viz. that there were a lot of people in Regina who had no business there and that a policeman was killed who had business there.

A disadvantage in having all governments in Canada of one political stripe is that it would interfere with the game of passing the buck.

The Baldwin ministry declines to adopt Lloyd George's new deal. Like many another new dealer, Mr. Lloyd George's proposals are predicted upon a lavish expenditure of public money to be raised by borrowing or by increased taxation. They are patterned along Rooseveltian lines, and are no doubt popular with those who do not have to pay the shot.

The best season for trekkers is the good old summer time. They get away from places where farm help is needed; they pass along the countryside where farm help is needed, but eventually they may land at Ottawa where no help is needed except by themselves. Trekking to the Capital has all the greater thrill because of the risks the trekkers take of being offered work along the route.

Public men who encourage the movement of large bodies of unemployed men to the federal or provincial capitals are playing with fire. An army, though unarmed, has in it the elements of danger especially when it has nothing to do and is not subject to discipline. The idea of relief work camps was born of a public desire to help the unemployed, but a few agitators have succeeded in convincing the authorities that large concentrations of men are fruitful fields for Communists whose sole aim is to wreck the social structure and bring about chaos and anarchy.

Clergymen who give aid and comfort to communism should be warned that revolutions are sometimes destructive to church as well as the es-

REV. P. DAWSON SOCIAL CREDIT CANDIDATE

Will Carry Social Credit Banner Through Present Provincial Election Nomination Popular With Supporters of the Party

Rev. Peter Dawson, pastor of the United Church, Champion, will contest the Little Bow constituency in the coming provincial election contest carrying the Social Credit banner according to announcement made last week by the leader of the Social Credit movement in Alberta, Wm. Aberhart, B.A., Calgary. Rev. Dawson was one of the four nominees selected at the nominating convention held in Vulcan on May 11th, at which Rev. E. G. Hansell, Vulcan; H. Allergoth, Milo; and L. H. Irwin, Arrowwood, were also nominated. Mr. Dawson has travelled the constituency throughout in support of the Social Credit movement and it is the opinion of local supporters of the movement that they have a strong candidate to contest the election for the Little Bow constituency. The choice went as the nominating convention strength indicated. He headed the nomination poll and has been an ardent supporter of Social Credit since its inception.

Rev. Mr. Dawson came to Champion in October 1930 and has served Champion and district as the pastor of the United Church since that time. During his residence in Champion he has been called upon to serve in many capacities in connection with church work in Vulcan. He takes active part in the social and sport circles of his community. He was born at Maybole, Ayrshire, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1911 and has resided in Alberta since 1913. He is a graduate of St. Stephen's Theological College, Edmonton, and since his graduation in 1927 has served the United Church in Sedgewick and Champion.

L. H. Stack, P. L. Hyde and H. Ross Address Liberal Meet

W. R. Howson, Provincial Liberal Leader, Unable to Attend Due to Illness

On Friday evening, July 26th, in the Vulcan theatre, L. H. Stack, K. C., Liberal candidate for the Little Bow constituency, appeared before a Vulcan audience for the first time since his nomination address. W. R. Howson, Liberal provincial leader, was billed to address the meeting, but was unable to be in attendance due to illness. It is announced that he will address the voters of the constituency at a later date. P. L. Hyde, federal Liberal candidate for Calgary west, and Harry Ross, former M.L.A., Liberal, of Calgary, both substituted in the absence of their leader, and all regretted his illness. Mayor King was chairman of the meeting.

L. H. Stack spoke first. There had been a combination of governments in the Dominion of Canada for many years, he said, not working in the proper line of thought. He predicted a complete Liberal government in the Dominion. All the provinces with the exception of Alberta had swung back to Liberalism and now he was sure that this province would swing in line. He then predicted a return of the Liberal party in the federal elections. Then, he said, you would have complete co-operation between all provincial other governments. Financial interests have control of the government, instead of the government having control of the financial interests. This monetary reform could be accomplished by the set-up of government, he predicted, was his contention. He took the U.F.A. manifesto point by point, criticizing the various planks, claiming that the present government had many years in which to carry these promises through, many of them having been made before.

P. L. Hyde spoke more about federal matters. He claimed the barriers set up against the export trade should be removed. He told of the Liberal plank of monetary reform. The government should have control of the currency and credit of the nation. Three great questions were before both the provincial and federal governments: unemployment; restoration of trade and monetary reform. All were interlocked, he said. His claim was that the Liberal party had a solution for these problems.

In his attack on the Aberhart proposals of Social Credit, he said $25 dividends offered were nothing short of wholesale bribery. He severely criticized Aberhart for his selection of Social Credit candidates in the provincial election using the selection of the Calgary candidates as an illustration. Besides the Aberhart Social Credit party there are four other Social Credit parties in the province. He cited these and read a letter from

Rains Again Soak Vulcan Crops

Scattered showers of rain greatly benefitted the crops of the Vulcan district on Wednesday afternoon and early Friday morning last week. Slightly over one-half of an inch fell during these rains. According to the rain gauge record kept by George McMann at the Searle Grain Elevator .53 was the official rainfall during these showers. This brings the total from April 1st to 8.20 inches, .18 over the ten year average of 8.02 inches, conditions at present would indicate a good crop yield. The hot days have brought menacing hail clouds to the horizon and heavy damage was reported in the Red Cross district last week. Crops in other parts of the district have been spared this element up to the time of writing. The weather has been quite warm, bringing up the occasional electrical storm. A vivid lightning display, followed by a very light shower, was witnessed in Vulcan Saturday evening.

Mrs. Isabella Jamison Called by Death

Death claimed another of Vulcan's residents on Sunday, July 28th, in the person of Mrs. Isabella Jamison, aged 84 years. She died following a lengthy illness. For the past three years she had not been in the best of health and for five months she had been confined to bed.

Mrs. Jamison was born at Ballinamoney, Ireland, in 1851 on the 23rd day of May. Her maiden name was Isabella Small. Her husband, John Jamison, predeceased her 48 years ago. With her children she came to the United States in 1902 settling in the state of Washington. In 1916 she came to the Vulcan district, where her sons had taken up farming lands, and since that date has resided in the district. For the past few years she has been a resident of town. In latter years she was hampered by her illness, but carried on till the end with a cheerfulness that made her philosophy an object of admiration among her many friends who paid her frequent visits. She had a very keen mind and although her eyesight was impaired by illness so that she could not read, she kept in touch with the world events by use of the radio.

Surviving her death are one daughter, Mrs. R. E. Lyman of Seattle, and three sons, -W. B. Jamison, J. S. Jamison, all residing in the Vulcan district.

The funeral service was held from the home of W. B. Jamison, Vulcan, on Tuesday, July 30th at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. J. N. Brunton conducted the services. A large number of friends attended the last rites to pay tribute to one whom they respected. Interment was made in the Vulcan cemetery under the direction of the A. W. Kelly Funeral Home. Pallbearers were W. J. Montgomery, Edward Finckh, Edward Parsons, Herman Spankie, Robert Brown and Frank Shaw.

Lomond and Milo Hear Liberal Speakers

L. H. Stack, K.C. in support of his candidature as Liberal nominee for the Little Bow constituency held a very well attended meeting at Lomond on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Stack outlined the Liberal platform referring particularly to the assistance necessary to the farmers and others in semi-arid parts of the province. He stressed the development of our natural resources, citing the oil-field development need as one instance.

Mr. Edmanson, president of the provincial Liberal Association, and Mr. Bowlen, member for one of the Calgary seats in the provincial house also spoke on behalf of Mr. Stack. Lomond citizens attending the meeting were quite outspoken as to the meeting being the longest and most orderly conducted political affair in their town during the present campaign.

The same speakers addressed a meeting at Milo during the evening of the same day. This meeting was not attended to the same extent as the afternoon gathering, but nevertheless was very pleasing to the Liberal candidate.

W. R. Howson, Liberal leader for the province, was billed to speak at both these meetings, but was unable to attend owing to sickness.

Mrs. A. Melvor and daughters, Marjorie and Murie, left during the week end for Vancouver, B.C., where they expect to reside for one year. Mr. Melvor has been residing at the coast city for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Melvor have been residents of Vulcan for many years, however their length of residence at the coast is not definite and they are expected

Mayor McGeer Will Speak Here Thurs., Aug. 15

Arrangements Made by Little Bow Liberal Association in Interests of L.H. Stack, K.C., Liberal Candidate

Arrangements are being made at present by the Little Bow Liberal Association to have Gerry G. McGeer, K.C., Mayor of Vancouver, B. C., and member of the British Columbia legislature, to address a public meeting in the town of Vulcan in the interests of L. H. Stack, K.C., Liberal candidate for the Little Bow provincial constituency. The definite date of the visit to Vulcan has not been set, but the date will be during the week ending August 17th. Further announcements will probably be made from the Liberal committee rooms, Vulcan, this week end. It is expected that the meeting will be held in the Vulcan arena for the speaker should draw a tremendous crowd from all through the Southern Alberta territory. It is anticipated that Mr. McGeer will address three meetings only while in the province, and Vulcan and district are very fortunate indeed to be favored with one of these.

Since the above item has been set, the date arranged is Thursday, August 15th, at 2 p.m. in the Vulcan Arena.

Blackie Defeats Vulcan Exhibition Baseball Game

Locals Hold Visitors to 8-8 Tied Game Until Eighth Inning; Final Score 8-10

Rain fell heavily on Friday morning and the baseball diamond at the Vulcan park was flooded. But the baseball bags were moved out on the grassy field and the scheduled exhibition game between Blackie and Vulcan was played in the evening. Only a small crowd turned out to see the game and those who did were dished up a good brand of baseball. The locals held the much heralded visitors down, in an even contest, till the eighth inning when the score was eight all. Blackie scored one in the eighth and one in the ninth to win the game.

The first inning was scoreless. The locals scored one tally in each of the next three frames. Robson on the mound for Vulcan pitched a shut-out game until the fifth frame, when the visitors broke loose and scored six runs. Errors by the Vulcan players were costly in this inning. Vulcan scored four runs in this same frame to still have a one run lead, 7-6. And they scored again in the seventh frame. Blackie scored two falls in the seventh to tie the count up. In the eighth they substituted Baker for Monkman, who kept the Vulcan batters from scoring. In the seventh frame, Robson on the receiving end for the locals, was hurt and Robson took his place. Snow hurled the rest of the game.

All the Vulcan players were practically high school lads, and showed great ability, in playing the much more experienced Blackie team, that with the proper coaching could field a very good team to put Vulcan on the baseball map again.

The line-ups: Blackie — Wellman, J. Stier, Woolridge, Evans, Addaman, Sharp, Meyers, Monkman and Baker. Vulcan — Clark, Recor, Harper, Robson, Snow, Fulton, Lundgren, Oldering and Woodward.

Robson and Lundgren, Vulcan, both hit three-base routes. The Vulcan battery held the Blackie team to five hits, while they in turn obtained 11 off the Blackie hurling staff. Strike-outs: Blackie, Monkman, four in seven innings; Baker, three in two innings; Vulcan: Robson, four in seven innings; Snow, two in two innings. Eddie Love umpired the game. To again take up residence here.

John Blackmore, Raymond, Expounds Social Credit

Addresses Meeting in Interests of Social Credit Movement at Berrywater, Union Jack and Reid Hill; In District Two Weeks

John Blackmore of Raymond has been in the Little Bow Constituency for the past week addressing meetings in the interests of Social Credit movement in the province. It is expected that his itinerary will be completed by this Saturday. By that time he will have addressed meetings at every large and several smaller points in the territory. He addressed a gathering in the Vulcan theatre last Wednesday before a large and enthusiastic audience. Other nearby points to hear his speech were Berrywater, Union Jack, Reid Hill, Arrowwood and Champion.

John Scobbie, one of the members of the local Social Credit group, was chairman of the Vulcan meeting, at which Rev. E. G. Hansell gave answer to parts of the address made recently in town by ex-Premier J. E. Brownlee. He promised the audience that he would answer the speech in whole at a later date, but said that this would take an entire evening. Mr. Hansell was one of the four nominees selected by the Social Credit reason he stated that much ill feeling was caused by the selection of nominating convention. For this the candidates. He publicly congratulated Rev. Peter Dawson on his selection by the advisory board as Social Credit candidate for the Little Bow constituency.

Social Credit supporters were warned by Mr. Hansell against the dividing of the forces of the movement by the opposition. He claimed the recent visit to the constituency by Mr. Brownlee was poor campaign strategy and charged that he pulled the wool over the people's eyes in his claiming that Social Credit in Alberta was unconstitutional and unsound. Charges were made by the speaker that Mr. Brownlee had only told half the truth when he said that 7 per cent of the population of the province was unemployed. Twenty-five per cent of the citizenship of the province was on relief, declared Mr. Hansell.

In opening his address, Mr. Blackmore said that plenty was a physical fact today and could be a political achievement tomorrow. "We are not in a depression—conditions will not naturally right themselves, and this unemployment is not a temporary ill. We are not in a depression, but just back to the normal of 1913 aggravated by the machine age," said the

Hail Damages Red Cross Crops

Coming from the west, hail took a toll of damage in the crops of the Red Cross territory, north of Vulcan about 4.30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon of last week. Damage in the area was reported from 50 to 80 per cent. The hailstones were large and with the whipping wind that accompanied the storm wrecked havoc with the growing vegetation. The area stricken was approximately two miles wide and seven miles long. The storm seemed to start in the west centred around the farm of Glen Phillip where heavy damage was reported. From there the clouds raised and little damage was reported till the Red Cross section centred around the farm of Thomas Love. There are farms of Clare Dunham, Mark Jose, Miller White, and others were badly hit. From that section the storm travelled eastward with heavy damage reported on the Peterson, Willard Love, John Fulton and Mrs. R. G. Love farms. Others were hit to varying degrees.

During the following day, Thursday, clouds laden with hail hovered over the southern section of the Vulcan district. Hail fell in town shortly after six o'clock in the evening. It was a light storm and no damage was reported.

Mrs. Sansome Dies; Funeral Wednesday

Charlotte Mary Sansome, widow of the late Joseph Sansome, of Kirkcaldy, died in Vulcan early Monday morning following a lengthy illness. She was 69 years of age. Her illness had been of such nature that the end was not unexpected. She was born in London, England, Charlotte M. Whitchurch, and was married to Joseph Sansome in 1866. They came to Canada in 1914 to the Vulcan district, taking up farm land in the Kirkcaldy section of the district. Since that time she has been a resident. She lived a very quiet life, devoting her entire time to her home and family. She was predeceased by her husband on April 20th this year, who was laid to rest in the Vulcan cemetery, beside whom his life mate was laid.

Mrs. Sansome is survived by two daughters, Mrs. E. H. Mill, Vulcan; and Mrs. E. N. Cannel, Isle of Man; and three sons, S. J., A. B. and R. E. Sansome, all residing in the vicinity of Kirkcaldy.

Funeral services were held from the St. Aldhelm's Anglican church, July 31st at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. Victor E. Smith officiating. Interment was made in the family burial plot at the Vulcan cemetery with arrangements in charge of the Snodgrass Funeral home.

GRANDMOTHERS ENTERTAINED KIRKCALDY W.I.

On Thursday, July 25th, members of the Kirkcaldy Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. Boose for their regular monthly meeting, eight members and eight visitors being present. During the afternoon the group entertained the grandmothers of the district. The meeting opened in the usual manner with exercises, reading the minutes and roll call. Mrs. Seever was appointed delegate to the conference to be held at Champion on August 7th. Arrangements were made for a baby clinic to be held in the Kirkcaldy school on August 8th, which each member promised to advertise well. Mrs. Hagerman, constituency convener, presented a paper on the Women's Home Service Bureau and what it means to all organizations in the province, not only for Women's Institute work, but for any church or club.

Entertainment for the grand mothers included a chorus by the members composed by one of the group and dedicated to the grandmothers. They responded, each in turn giving their maiden name, when and where they were born, and the number of their grandchildren, and as well, various incidents in their lives. They sang the old lullaby "Rock-a-bye Baby." Some of the grandmothers were born in the United States, while others came from England. Miss Bernice Market gave a recitation. A novel contest called "a shirt waist" contest was the source of much merriment and chaff, under direction of Mrs. Clements. It was won by Mrs. Seever. Mesdames Hagerman and Clements sang a duet number "The Old Spinning Wheel." The program was followed by community singing.

Miss Rinehart gave an interesting and amusing account of the early days of the Kirkcaldy district pioneer life. The gathering decided that the early days were the best as far as fun was concerned. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess. The singing of God Save the King concluded a very pleasant afternoon.

Alberta Savings Certificates

A Sound Form of Investment

By Issuance of Savings Certificates, the Province of Alberta has for many years afforded opportunity to the public for investment of their savings at attractive interest rates, at the same time assisting the Province in maintaining public services vital to the welfare of the people.

In addition to the usual "Demand" Certificates, available in denominations of $5 and upwards, the Government in 1932 inaugurated Term Certificates, bearing a fixed rate of interest for stated periods of one, two or three years. Purchasers of these certificates are afforded the same security as on Provincial Bonds. The term certificates are available in various denominations from $25 up and are not subject to the varying market prices for debentures.

HIGHWAY PROBLEMS

This is one of those years when no traveller feels secure unless his course of travel lies along a gravelled road. Rain deluges have been coming up unexpectedly to harass all those who want to go places and see things. So many times one hears the disappointed complaint, in connection with travel to certain "attractions" in Alberta, "We did want to go there, but the roads were too uncertain." And in consequence a certain amount of tourist revenue went unspent, at least in this province. Or those who took chances were involved in expense and discomfort which left no happy memory.

Perhaps it is unfair continually to contrast our roads with those of Eastern Canada and the States across the border, but the contrast even on our "good" roads is about the same as sleeping on an Ostermoor or on the bare ground. And the relative wear and tear on cars is about the same.

Everyone realizes that there must be highway needs still unfulfilled, in the great Peace river district, and that the cry for connecting roads is insistent and perpetual all over the province. It is impossible to respond to all the calls for roads.

But the fact remains that our bid for tourist trade is feeble unless we have all weather roads within the province, aside from the trans-Alberta highway. We reap only a minimum of benefit from the tourist who passes directly through. It is the little side trips, the pausing here and there, that bring in the money.

Another question often asked is, why so much of the high powered road work seems to be carried on in the middle or latter part of the summer, when tourist traffic is heavy, and when the season will soon be over. Perhaps this also is unavoidable but our roads always seem to be brushing their teeth, combing their hair (if at all) only after the company arrives. It would make a much happier impression if we could be reasonably dolled up by the first of July.

If we had only limited possibilities of impressing the tourist, we would not harp so constantly on the subject of roads. But this province has a scenic appeal that few other provinces can touch, and much of its charm lies in the Western Rockies and adjacent foothill country. This provides a type of beauty which is said to be unparalleled elsewhere. Yet it comes very close to being buried treasure so far as accessibility is concerned.

If we are going to get much of tourist revenue which is so greatly to be desired we must first develop an aggressive, visible, all-weather program of highways. We should have results from what we pay in gas tax.

A LITTLE OVERPROOF

In conversation the other day a woman remarked "You know, back home in the East, I was always regarded as the freak member of the family. But since I have come out West, I seem to have just melted into the crowd, and am not a bit queerer than anybody else." That brought a laugh from everyone, but it was a remark that one could not help mulling over.

Taken out of our Western environment where we all seem quite normal, and placed in a calmer, less strenuous environment, aren't there a good many of us who feel that perhaps we are a little queer. At any rate we are different. Even the old folks of us seem to carry a "pep," a vigorous, up and coming quality, that is not so apparent in our contemporaries who have a more placid habit of living.

And perhaps it was a sort of "freakishness," or restlessness that brought us out West in the first place. A good many of us, if we delve back into our remote youth, can remember that we were more trouble to our parents than other members of the family. We were perhaps tuned to a more changeable adventurous atmosphere.

And boy, did we find it! Alberta has given us all we could crave in the way of strenuous experience. It has picked us up, thrown us down and picked us up again. It lavishes and it withholds, it frowns and smiles. It strikes and caresses, almost in the same moment. The natural conditions under which we live are a perpetual challenge making perpetual demand on the qualities that first set our feet to straying from the beaten paths.

And it is perhaps because we are as we are, that we can take the bad with the good, and keep smiling. The cruel visitations of hail or frost or drought which hit here and there regardless, might be expected to rob our citizens of ambition and spirit. But they do not seem to.

That little extra quality of iron, or whatever chemical it may be, upholds them. And nowhere can there be found more valor and less whining than amongst those of our people who have been hit the hardest. It may quite easily be that we are all a little queer, but that's what it seems to take to get along.

NO MUD PLEASE

The editorial writer of the Morning Albertan, along with almost all other electors, who have listened to the radio or to public speeches, is apprehensive that this election may develop into a mud-slinging contest. There have been signs of querulousness and ill-temper, and fair warning is issued that the public does not like that kind of campaign. Moreover "dirty cracks" have no place in the presentation of any argument for or against.

Locally, so far, there has been no great violence done to the sensibilities of non-partisan hearers. And a recent meeting stands out, as particularly free of any acrimonious remarks. One speaker presented his statement of what he would like to help in accomplishing, without one reference to his opponents. Another touched upon policies which he did not approve, and presented alternatives which he thought were better. But at no time was there any vindictive word, or any suggestion of personalities. The meeting was a refreshing experience, and left the better impression because of its moderation. If that principle can be maintained in this and other ridings during the campaign, it will give the public a much greater respect for our public men.

represent the different parties, are men of high character and good balance. They are quite unlikely to lose dignity and temper in any election battle. Each is concerned with Fortunately, the candidates in this constituency who certain policies and principles which he wishes to carry out, and will have neither time nor inclination for guerrilla sniping. But there are indications that elsewhere it is going to be a rough, tough battle.

The Morning Albertan gives good advice when it says: "The man or woman who cannot differ with an opponent without insulting him or her has not the mental or cultural equipment of a would-be legislator; the public service demands level heads and balanced minds; the manners of the tap room and the clamoring of querulous fishwives are not for the legislatures and the council chambers."

GOOD CASH CUSTOMER

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

Two women sat side by side in a store. Each one bought a pair of $10 shoes. One received just the shoes in exchange for a ten-dollar bill. The other charged her shoes and received the shoes plus extra advantages. Obviously the woman who paid cash got less for the same money.

In most business transactions credit is a valuable commodity that is paid for. But the retail shopper has usually been favored not only with credit at no additional cost, but also with a number of perquisites. The charge account customer sends home much merchandise "on approval" and returns it with ease, while the cash customer stands in a long line awaiting the operation of store red tape for the return of items bought with cash. Often, too often, the charge account customer lets payments drag ninety days, or longer, without penalty.

A Philadelphia store has recently met the situation courageously. (It takes courage to trifle with the special privileges of shoppers). This store, one of the largest in the country, has inaugurated a new system for credit and cash purchases, which system, if put into effect throughout the country, would change considerably the buying habits of millions of shoppers.

If the privilege of being able to "charge it" is of value to a customer of this Philadelphia store, she may still have that privilege in full, provided she pays for it. She will, however, pay more for everything than does the cash customer, for the cash customer receives a 2 per cent. discount on each item purchased. Should the charge account customer desire to delay payment of her bills, she has that privilege also, and pays for it. Bills paid within thirty days receive a 1 per cent. discount, but when bills drag beyond sixty days then carrying charges start.

This plan for encouraging cash purchases would tend to lower prices and give customers a better selection of merchandise by releasing for immediate use large sums now frozen and useless when tied up in unpaid charge accounts. Heretofore some retailers that have endeavored to curb the costly services accorded charge account customers have found such moves brought a loss of both sales and customers.

However, with this plan to reward cash customers, it will be interesting to see whether many customers regard the old-fashioned type of charge account with all its privileges as sufficiently important to take them away from the store which offers an improved service and considerably lowered prices for cash.

INCOME TAX-REPLY

It is claimed that the following letter was received by the Department of Internal Revenue, and will appeal particularly to the many thousands of our readers who are approached for an income tax:

"Gents—The enclosed form, on which I am asked to make a record of my income for the last fiscal year, is returned to you with my respects and my deepest appreciation of this subtle form of flattery. I am particularly impressed by its resurrection of old forms and figures of speech, such as 'compensation from outside sources,' 'net profits received,' 'income from rents,' 'interest on bank deposits,' etc.

"The question I got a great laugh out of was, 'Were you during the taxable year supporting in your household one or more persons related to you?' Boy, that's a honey! There are so many persons closely related to me staying at my house that I am what you would call surrounded. Only the other day three more distant cousins of my wife blew in, making a new high for the movement. And one of them brought a friend.

"For the last four years my house has been full of strangers, all claiming to be my cousins or aunts or something. I can't identify half of them, and what burned me up was when my wife's Uncle Jerry, who has been living with us for a year, slapped me on the back the other day and asked, 'Haven't I seen you some place before?'

"The blank says it will allow me $400 for each dependent relative, and I would say the government is overpricing them, as I would trade the entire lot for $11 and throw in a pair of bicycle pants and a magic lantern. (Two of my wife's aunts you can have for the asking).

"Heigh-ho and lackaday! The blank also asks me to 'describe your business as provided in Item 2,' and I am glad to answer, 'Lousy, Mr. Secretary, lousy.' And it asks me to enter on line 1 of Schedule A my total receipts. I wish you would stop joking, Mr. Secretary. Fun is fun, but enough is plenty, and you can carry anything too far.

"Then you say something about allowance for 'obsolescence, depreciation and depletion.' That's where I come in. As a Canadian business man I am a study in obsolescence. I am depleted, deflated, depressed, denatured, denounced, deranged and dejected. And so is your old man Yours in a barrel."

Jones was one of those nervous persons whose imagination at times afflicts them with all kinds of ills, which never materialize. One afternoon, long before his usual hour for returning from business, he staggered into the house. He was bent forward. He tottered to a chair and, still curled into half-moon shape, dropped into it. "Mary!" He gasped "It's come at last. There was no warning. All of a sudden I found I couldn't straighten up. I can't lift my head. Hurry for the doctor." When the doctor had seen the patient Mrs. Jones inquired, fearing the worst: "Is there any hope?" "Well, madam," said the doctor, "It will help a good deal if he will unbutton the third buttonhole of his vest from the top button of his trousers!"

Prices Cut to the Bone

on McCormick-Deering Combines

● Right now—when you need sound, efficient equipment to handle a heavy harvest—we are able to offer you McCormick-Deering Harvester-Threshers and Windrow-Harvesters at drastically reduced prices. Never before have you seen such bargains in standard current-model combines backed by over 100 years of harvest machine experience. Never before have you had an opportunity to change over to the time and grain-saving combine method on an advantageous basis.

Purchase of a combine is a very important investment. You are buying it for 10 years or more of harvesting. Each year will be exactly as important to you as this first year. That is why combine service is just as valuable and vital to you as the combine itself. Be sure you get both!

M McCormick-Deering No. 8 and No. 11 Combines are great values even at their regular prices. At their special new prices they are such "buys" that you cannot afford to let them get away from you.

We will give you complete information and quote you the new low prices on these brand-new 10, 12, and 16-foot machines on request.

Friends of D. A. Allred of the Vulcan High School teaching staff, will be sorry to learn that he is a patient in the hospital at Cardston.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Sproule (nee Miss Annie McClimment) of Foremost, on Wednesday, July 24, a daughter.

Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Brunton of Nampa, Ala., were visitors in Vulcan for a few days this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Allan.

Mrs. W. S. Hill and daughter Shirley entrained on Saturday evening for Vancouver, where they will holiday for a month.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson and family who have been holidaying at the Pacific Coast are expected to return to Vulcan this week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Shimp were week end visitors at Lake Louise.

A. J. Kennedy is this week in Vancouver, B.C., attending the sessions of the Dominion Grand Lodge of Elks' convention as a delegate from Vulcan lodge.

Miss L. McKay has been permanently engaged on the nursing staff of the Vulcan hospital by the hospital board, to take the position vacated by the resignation of Miss Jean Laulaw.

Miss Watt of the Vulcan hospital nursing staff is on holiday leave. She is taking a trip south to the United States and will later visit with friends and relatives at her home town of Rimby, Alberta. During her absence Miss Molly Harback, a former Vulcan resident, is taking her place on the staff at the hospital.

One day last week Jim Marshall injured one of his eyes severely while chopping wood. A stick of the wood flew in the air and hit the eye with a bad blow. It was thought for a while that the sight would be impaired by the accident. However under expert attention the injury was not considered serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fisher who have been residents of Vulcan for the past three months have this week returned to their former place of residence, Shaunavon, Sask. There he has accepted a position with his brother in one of the town's garages. During their short time of residence in town, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher have made many friends.

Good summer congregations are attending the services every Sunday at the Church of Christ. Last Sunday witnessed a service of particular interest when three young people and an adult were baptised. Next Sunday Rev. E. G. Hansell will have as his sermon subjects, the following: morning service, "Where Fell Your Axe Head?"; evening service "The Two Comings of Christ."

On Sunday evening last, following the services, the congregation of St. Aldhelm's Anglican church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker to bid farewell to Rev. V. E. Smith, parish rector for the past four years who is leaving the community. A pleasant social hour was spent together. Mr. Smith was presented with a fountain pen. All those present expressed regret at his departure. Lunch was served by the ladies of the church.

Miss Eleanor Jenniohn has been engaged by the Vulcan school board to fill the position on the staff of the Vulcan schools vacated by the resignation of Miss Grace King of Calgary. Miss King has accepted a position in one of the Calgary schools. Miss Jenniohn is a native daughter of the town, having received her public and high school education here. For the past two terms she has had principalship of the Arrowwood school.

Social Credit Meet

speaker. He claimed a sinister organization was trying to, and eventually would enslave the Anglo-Saxon races if conditions were not changed. "The Anglo-Saxon race is burdened with three times as much taxation as any other race. This will eventually crush them," he exclaimed.

One-fifth of the population of the United States are on relief after six million dollars have been spent to remedy the situation, the Social Credit exponent quoted, and a similar condition presented itself in Canada. "We cannot borrow ourselves out of debt, this is no solution to the problem," Social Credit offered the solution, claimed the speaker.

He charged that Alberta political parties had no vision for the future. Speaking of political parties, he said that the Roosevelt administration in the United States was a Liberal administration and has done all a Liberal government can do, but they have failed in finding a solution to the problems.

With aid of a blackboard and chalk the A plus B theorem was explained to the audience. Mr. Blackmore stated that it was the realization of the truth of this theorem that converted him to Social Credit. With figures on the blackboard he showed how machines were replacing labor in industry. "We haven't money enough to buy our own goods, so why import? How can you trade with the world; when the world cannot trade with you? There is only one way in the world to buy the goods your machines are making. The government must distribute purchasing power to buy in the form of national dividends."

Mr. Blackmore explained how the people could get this basic dividend. "There is a way to get this money without taxation or borrowing. Money can be made out of nothing—the banks create credit." At this point the speaker quoted a number of authorities to bear out the statement. He traced the history of money from the early ages to the present day and made the statement that the banks make money by both inflation and deflation. "To protect people the power of the creation of credit must be in the hands of the government of the people. It is the power of the government to monetize the wealth of the people; the wealth of the country. People in a community are worth something to that community; the services of the people should be monetized." The monetizing of Alberta's wealth must be established, said the speaker in summing up this portion of his talk.

Mr. Blackmore claimed the present Alberta government bonds were backed by the wealth of the province. With this reasoning he said the wealth of the province was monetized, therefore it was a form of Social Credit. "If Alberta can write a million dollar bond is there any reason why it can't write a thousand dollar bond and give it to you? Or a little bond of $25.00 every month?" He claimed the province would not be breaking the B.N.A. Act or the Bank Act in doing this.

Again with the blackboard he showed how the basic dividend would be retrieved by a levy on the price spread. The processing tax was, also explained by this method.

In concluding the speaker said, "I grant all this should be done by the Dominion Government, but, if they cannot see the way Alberta must lead the way. Nothing can be lost and everything gained by we in Alberta seeking our own salvation."

Following the address a number of questions were asked, and seemingly answered in a satisfactory manner. The meeting was well conducted and no disorderly demonstrations were evident.

ANOTHER HEADACHE IN NEW BALLOTING

The Edmonton Journal offers some explanation of the complicated processes of the system of voting applied to the coming provincial election. Can you grasp it?

"In all rural ridings in Alberta the single transferable vote system is used. Under this system, if properly applied, a candidate must receive a majority of votes cast, even if it is necessary to scan ballots for second and third preferences."

"It is quite possible for a candidate who, on first count, has received little more than a fifth of the total vote, to be elected finally. Similarly a candidate who leads after the first count may end up in second or third place on the final count if all voters mark their ballots properly, showing their preference."

"Even if, as is suggested, social credit supporters vote as a solid unit, that will not ensure the election of their candidate unless on the first count he is given a majority of the total vote or, if he is not elected on the first count, he is able to secure enough second choices on opponents' ballots to give him a majority on the final count."

"For example, suppose in some rural riding 1,000 votes are recorded, being divided between a Social Credit, U.F.A., a Conservative and a Liberal candidate. Suppose after first count the Social Credit man receives 350 votes, the U.F.A. 250, the Conservative 201 and the Liberal 199. The Social Credit nominee has not a majority, so the ballots cast for the low man are distributed according to the second choice preferences marked on them. If 149 Liberals marked the figure "2" after the name of the Conservative candidate, and 50 voted "2" for the U.F.A. candidate, the result at the end of the second count would be Social Credit 350, Conservative 350 and U.F.A. 300. Now the 300 U.F.A. ballots would have to be distributed according to their second choices, and if all expressed such a choice, and a majority of the U.F.A. supporters expressed a preference for the Conservative, the Conservative would be declared elected, just as soon as his total reached the 501 mark."

"If the opponents of Social Credit in all ridings outnumber its supporters they can defeat it in all ridings by marking their ballots 1, 2, 3, regardless of what party they are supporting. On the other hand, if the voters who are opposed to Social Credit "plump" that is, if they vote only "1" and do not mark their 2nd and 3rd choices, they are opening the way to the election of Social Credit by a minority vote."

This is one election where the registration of a majority opinion in all constituencies is most important. It would be deplorable if such an experiment as Social Credit should be authorized by a minority vote."

Sandwiched in between Crazy Water Crystals and Ironized Yeast one hears Social Credit, United Farmers, Liberals, Young Conservatives and the Economic Safety League. Up to the moment Aberhart's broadcasting technique has got them all beat. His two hour Sunday afternoon channel on the air is the first Canadian political challenge of our invisible Lord's Day ethics; for even under the veneer of religion it is straight political campaigning. So far none of the other parties have had the guts to do it, and none of them have introduced such a finesse to their broadcasts to make them entertaining and exciting as well as propaganda.—Clareholm Press.

REID NOW ISSUES 16 POINT PROGRAM

Premier Reid, head of the U.F.A. Government, has issued a sixteen point program. Several of these are federal in scope, but those specifically provincial include—a determined effort to introduce the principle of work for wages in relief problem; appointment of a director of youth activities and extension of the system of probation for juvenile delinquents; assistance to settlers by way of breaking, advice on farming methods and re-location of settlers where necessary; evolution of changes in court procedure to reduce costs; continued investigation of production refining, and distribution of gas; completion of the highway system, and building up of secondary roads to provide ultimately all-weather roads into every community; extension of secondary education facilities in rural districts.

Man On the Land

The manifesto points to legislative enactment on behalf of the farmer in the Debt Adjustment Act and amendments thereto. It mentions social dividends to 6200 old age persons, to mothers allowance, unemployment relief and care of sick.

Federal Objectives

Among policies calling for federal co-operation, or applicable only to the federal administration, are—Reduction of interest rates on private mortgage and a maximum of 5 per cent; recognition by the Federal Government that unemployment, old age pensions, education and highways are national in importance and more generous aid must be made available; reduction of age for old age pensions; recapture by Canada of the power to issue and regulate currency; refunding of public debt at interest rates of not more than 2 1/2 per cent; extension of facilities for marketing farm products; reconsideration of tariff system and compensation for the inequalities of tariff policies.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

Born to Mr. and Mrs. William Penn of Stavely on Saturday, July 13th, a son.

Miss E. McFarlane of Coronation is a visitor in Vulcan at the home of her uncle, R. W. McFarlane.

The annual provincial polo tournament will be held at High River on August 8 and 10. Games start at 2:30 and 4:30 p.m. each day.

A meeting in the interests of the Social Credit movement will be held at Ensign next Tuesday evening. Mr. Hansell of Vulcan will be the speaker.

The Little Bow Constituency conference of the Alberta W. L.'s will be held in Champion at the community hall on Wednesday, August 7th. Sessions will be in the morning at 10 and in the afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

A Foothills Health Clinic sponsored by the Kirkcaldy Women's Institute will be held in Kirkcaldy school on Thursday, August 8th, from 1 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, for children of pre-school age. 30-2-c

During the past week the back stage portion of the Vulcan theatre, added to the building a few years ago has been stuccoed. The original portion of the building is receiving an application of paint on the exterior that will brighten up the premises.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Clark and family of Waskatena, Alberta, were week end visitors in Vulcan and district at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Johnston and Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Clark. They left on Monday morning for Pincher Creek where they will visit with relatives before returning home.

The various Social Credit groups of the constituency are arranging meetings throughout the constituency when the candidate, Rev. Peter Dawson and Rev. E. G. Hansel will be the speakers. So far as The Advocate is able to learn the following meetings are probable: August 9th at Kirkcaldy; August 13th at Union Jack and Arrowwood; August 14th at Queenstown and Milo; August 15, at Berrywater and Vulcan; August 16th at Kasmar and Lomond.

Workmen have been busy during the past week laying the asphalt mixture on the prepared base of the sidewalks on the business section of Vulcan street. The south section of the street was completed yesterday, and a start was made on the north portion, which should be completed next week. Wet weather has retarded the work somewhat during the week past. Citizens are high in praise of the improvement.

Father Cunningham turned his car over on the way to Champion on Sunday. He was about three miles east of Vulcan when the right rear tire on the vehicle blew out. The car turned turtle into the ditch and came to rest against the fence on the north side of the road. Father Cunningham was badly shaken up but received no injuries. This was a lucky escape for the top of the car was badly smashed in, in such a position that any one viewing the wreck would wonder how the occupant could help but be crushed. The vehicle was badly wrecked.

Tuesday night was again donation night at the Vulcan theatre. Forty dollars was donated by the management in prizes of $20, $10 and two $5 amounts. Only one donation was given. This went to Mrs. (Dr.) G. M. Carson who received the $10 prize. The other names called were Frank Woods, Vulcan, for the $20; Mrs. Alf Sales, Vulcan, $5; and Michael Orchard, Reid Hill, $5. These people were not in the theatre or around the premises, so were unfortunate in not getting the cash donations. The $20 not given, will be carried over until next Tuesday when the total sum will again be $40.

Little Bow Constituency Liberal Candidate

L. H. STACK, K.C.

Who was the choice of the Liberals for candidature for the provincial election race in the Little Bow constituency. Mr. Stack was born at Melrose, N.B., in the year 1886. He received his early education at the Melrose public school and at St. Joseph's University, New Brunswick, and afterwards completed his University schooling at Dalhousie, City of Halifax, Nova Scotia, from which he received the degree of LL.B. During the time of his law studies he was articled with the Hon. F. J. Sweeney who was at that time Minister of Lands in the New Brunswick Provincial Legislature whose office was in Moncton, N.B. His father, during his entire life, has been engaged in farming and in the lumber industry.

Mr. Stack has been a resident of Alberta for slightly over twenty-two years. For the first five of which he followed the practice of law in the city of Calgary with the firm of Stewart, Charmon and Cameron. He has continuously resided in the town of Vulcan since 1917 where he has very successfully conducted his private law business. He owns farm lands in the Vulcan district and has personally supervised his farming operations for some years, giving him first hand information of the difficulties in connection with farm operation in recent years.

He has been a member of the Council of the Town of Vulcan. He has always been keenly interested in the actual development of the oil industry in this province and is now a director of a company as well as being personally interested in drilling other wells.

Mr. Stack is generally conceded exceptional executive ability and the Little Bow Riding is fortunate in nominating this type of man.

an Alberta Social Credit Association that brought a ripple of laughter from the audience. They, the letter revealed, would give each citizen $50 or $100 if they wanted it. He declared that Aberhart had no definite Social Credit plan to fight, but only a shadow. How many people, he asked, had ever got something for nothing?

We must recognize the need of those who cannot work, he said, saying that the Liberal party would pension the blind, the "burned out" soldiers, and all over 60 years of age who wished to retire from business. This would be a sensible form of Social Credit for the Dominion, and with the issue and control of currency in the hands of the government would be a solution to our problems.

Harry Ross was the last speaker on the platform for the evening. He pictured in a general way the financial condition of the Province under the U.F.A. administration. In criticizing the road program he claimed that four million dollars more had been spent on the maintenance and building of the roads during the reign of power of the present government. Sixteen million dollars of debt had accumulated in five years with the average interest of 5 per cent every year, he claimed. This was a tremendous burden. He stated that from 1930 the taxes had raised from four and a half million to seven million. Fifty per cent of the taxes were used for the payment of interest, he claimed. The situation could be remedied, and would, he said, if the Liberals were placed in power during the coming provincial election. Before concluding his address he spoke about the monetary reform problem as a Dominion problem.

A question period was held after the address.

Paraphrasing World Events

established state under which the church enjoys privileges in return for the service it gives the state in teaching citizens to lead godly righteous and sober lives and in disposing them to peace, order and good government. In return for this service, the state exempts church property from taxation. Communism triumphant would give short shrift to church property and privileges.

The appointment of Judges to make political or quasi-political inquiries should be discouraged by the bench. Acting as commissioners, they lose their judicial quality and their power to discipline lawyers and witnesses for contempt. They subject themselves to criticism in the press and from the platform. They are sure to be accused of allowing their judgment to be swayed by party considerations, a charge that probably has some basis inasmuch as they were selected because of previous party affiliations. Being human, Judges retain some fondness for the party for which they used to fight and from which they secured their elevation to the bench. On the bench their partisanship is submerged, but as commissioners—

Politicians are speculating on the probable effect of the formation of the Stevens' party and its endeavor to have a candidate in every riding. The only safe guess is that it will "ball things up." The first guess was that it would hurt the government and help the Liberals but members of the government are not depressed by the Stevens' entry and Liberal leaders do not appear to be elated over it. Both sides think it will hurt the C.C.F. most, but it will affect the other parties differently in the different constituencies. With three, four or five candidates in each constituency, no one can make a shrewder guess than any other can.

Party lines have broken. The fences that separate the two major parties have been damaged by breach electors. The fences are not so high and strong as they used to be. The younger and more nimble voters think nothing of vaulting over them. Some of them do not even recognize the existence of such boundaries. Even the old partisans are not so particular now, but when they leave the old home they would prefer to rest, temporarily at least, at some half-way house such as the C.C.F. provides or such as the Hon. Harry is building. What with the number who will leave one old party for the other and the greater number who will desert both old parties for one or other of the new, the general elections are bound to spring surprises that will confound the prophets and dismay the politicians.

An Italian journalist living in London challenged an English M.P. to a duel because the M.P. had said something disparaging about Mussolini. Now, supposing an English journalist living in Italy challenged an Italian deputy to a duel for saying something disparaging about Stanley Baldwin what would happen? He would be in luck if he escaped imprisonment or death by deportation. British people merely gasped and then laughed at the Italian journalist's gasconade.

Tom Carruthers left on Saturday for the Pacific Coast where he will holiday.
